About Workshop

Open Access is one of the subjects of discussion which has emerged as a new trend in the digital era. The advances in ICT have given rise to the idea of Open Access resources and open access software to overcome the priced barrier for accessing scholarly work. Today's Knowledge-based society, with the advent of Internet, Open access helps widespread and easy access to scholarly information facilitating research and innovation. Open access is not only changing the nature of scholarly communication but even the way research is carried out. Therefore, the deliberations of the Workshop promote professional practice and academic research.

Objectives of the Workshop

The Workshop aims at bringing together Academicians, Faculties, Scientists, Library professionals (such as Librarians, Dy. Librarians, Asst. Librarians etc.), Information Scientists to exchange or share their experiences and research results about all aspects of Open Access. It provides the premier interdisciplinary forum for academic groups, practitioners, educators and library professionals to present and discuss the most recent innovations, trends, concerns, practical challenges, encountered and the solutions adopted in the field of Open Access. It also aims to educate the community and professionals on the benefits of OA resources and open source software.

About DeLCON

The 'DBT's Electronic Library Consortium (DeLCON)' is major project of the 'Department of Biotechnology (DBT)' to bring qualitative change in their research Institutions. It was launched in January 2009 with the 10 DBT member Institutions (presently 34 members) with a large number of high impact online journals. It is a national initiative for providing access to scholarly electronic resources including full-text and bibliographic databases in all the life science subject disciplines to DBT Institutional community. The 'DeLCON Consortium' provides current as well as archival access to more than 1171 core and peer-reviewed journals in different disciplines from 21 foreign publishers. The faculties, scientists, research scholars, students and project assistants of Institutions covered under DeLCON are the primary beneficiaries.

About NBRC:

National Brain Research Centre is the only institute in India dedicated to neuroscience research and education. Scientists and students of NBRC come from diverse academic backgrounds, including biological, computational, mathematical, physical, engineering and medical sciences, and use multidisciplinary approaches to understand the brain. Located in the foothills of the Aravali range in Manesar, Haryana, NBRC is an autonomous institute funded by the Department of Biotechnology, Government of India, and is a Deemed University established in the year 1999.
